Actually, due to certain RL circumstances that have just come up, give me until Monday for K Hawk, okay?

By that time, I may also have switched email addresses; I will let you know of course when that happens and change my list subscriptions accordingly.

andrew, i like the bio, and i can always find plenty for a security-type to do.

in other words,...

welcome aboard!

now, to get you started. are you subbed to khawk? if not, send the following command to majordomo@stargame.org:

subscribe khawk

once i introduce you and your pc to the rest of the players, you are free to post to the game.

your character, a lieutenant, has been assigned to epsilon 10, the deep space station where the kitty hawk has come for extensive repairs.

he's wanted to get a shipboard assignment, and being left out of the excitement during the engagement between the khawk and a klingon bird-of-prey right outside the station just reinforced that desire.

currently, he's handling security for the six klingon survivors from the destroyed bird-of-prey. at some point soon, you approach the station co, commander vuif, and request a transfer to the khawk.

how do you like this?

Mel Gibson's haircut from the Lethal Weapon movies). Athletic, semi-muscular build.

PERSONALITY: Likeable, good sense of humor, quick wit, but very intense. There's something brooding back there that he doesn't show. Spend more than five minutes with him and you know he's got a past, but you may never know what it is.

BACKGROUND: Most of it's going to have a big red neon "Classified" all over it; what's back there we can figure out later as opportunity presents itself. ;) There's some very specialized type military trainign back there, the type that generally gets assigned to people whose names are erased from official documents to hide their participation in things. The reason he was after the claw is that the claw killed a buddy of his several years back. As far as family, he isn't married [you think I'd enter a new environment any other way? ;)], however, he is very close with his younger sister (to be named later), whom he tries to communicate with often.

Is that enough to start me up, your GM-Ness?

This, too, shall be fun. :)

NAME: Jones, Jacob
RANK: Lieutenant
POSITION: Security (Klingon Liaison Expert) SPECIES: Human HOMEWORLD: Earth
PHYSICAL CHARACTERISTICS:
AGE: 29
HT.: 6 Ft
HAIR: Dark Brown EYES: Hazel

Jacob is charismatic and has managed to fit in well during all his previous postings. Prior to joining the crew of the Geronimo Jacob has spent four years at Starfleet as part of a program to understand the threat of the Klingon Empire. While it is strange for a young officer to spend such a long term without venturing into space aboard a starship it was because Jacob has caught the eye of several key staff at Starfleet Headquarters who were keen for him to remain in his Earth bound security post.

Jacob had his proudest moment when he worked with James T. Kirk shortly after Kirk's return from his five year mission. The short crossing of paths convinced Jacob that he needed to push on his career and travel to the stars. This has meant leaving his family who he was close to, both Mother and Father living in San Francisco, to join the Geronimo. This so far has proved a fruitful mission and Jacob is hoping to stand out from the rest of the crew and allow his career to rapidly progress. He is hoping to transfer to the command structure after completing his current assignments on the Geronimo.

Jacob has been in security on the Geronimo for nine months and has been a valuable asset to the team. He has progressed rapidly within the structure and is next in line for the executive position in security.

Jacob was born in San Francisco, Earth. And other than training missions with the Academy, his tour on the USS Geronimo has been his first opportunity to spend time away from Earth.

While Jacob is very ambitious he would not risk other lives to further his career, basing his work on the stories that Kirk shared with him during his time served at Starfleet Headquarters.

Appendum: security seems to be a good position on the Kitty Hawk at the moment, with a spy on the loose it could be the right place for a young officer to make a name for himself ;-)

Randy-

Is it all right with you if I run rather fast and loose with the exact rosters of my NPC security force on Khawk and NPC Marines on XER? Those rosters are wonderfully detailed, yes (gruelling, was my first adjective of choice), however... it leaves little room for on the fly creative development like you know I have so much fun with. And so, without giving specific details (for that would ruin the point), if it doesn't cause a problem for you, I'd like to take all that nicely detailed NPC roster stuff that people obviously put a great deal of energy into under advisement, with freedom to alter on the fly.

Is this a problem?

Once she received word of the Klingon ship's destruction, Tremere said to Burnett, "Get us back to the station. We have a lot of folks who need medical attention."

(response)

Then, to Schuman, "If you would, Commodore, assist the doctor in carrying our other guest to the infirmary."

The phaser in her hand lended weight to her order that her rank did not.

Schuman assessed the other woman for a moment, seemingly gauging her resolve. When the weapon pointed at her never wavered, she shrugged and walked over to Nash.

"Doctor, shall we?"

By that point, Tremere('s sd) replied, "Both were injured, and Dr. Nash felt it necessary to treat them here. Inform E10 that they will both remain in my custody until we dock."

I've read the posts, but I wouldn't know what Val's condition is. How would you like me to handle it?

"Not extensive at all, though they were numerous. The reason they caught my attention was that I was reminded of a time when I interned in an emergency center. A child was brought in who had beat her head against the wall of a department store several times because her mother would not buy her a Tarmarian doll. She knocked herself unconscious, but fortunately there was no brain damage."
